VISUAL ART

A NEW group exhibition bridges the gap between street art and rock art. Birk Land is an exhibition of ochre stencil works produced in workshops in the past six months by Frankston and Mornington Peninsula Aboriginal artists (including Dan Kelly, whose work Eliza is pictured). The workshops focused on working with ochre, and the artists – aged from 10 to 62 – travelled to Gramplains Gairwurd to study rock art, explore culture and collect ochre.
